4) The Main Risks of Investing in the Fund

- a. The Fund is suitable for an investor who seeks capital growth and income generation and at the same time is willing to accept the high risks associated with equity markets generating potential returns on a long-term basis. However, the Fund is subject to high market volatility (due to the composition of its portfolio) and, as a result, the Unit price may rise or fall, and upon redemption, the Unitholder may not be able to recover all or any of the principal invested amount.
- b. Past performance of the Fund or past performance of the Index is not an indicator of the future performance of the Fund.
- c. There is no guarantee that the Fund's absolute performance or its performance relative to the Index will repeat or match past performance.
- d. Investment in the Fund is not equivalent to making a deposit with a bank.
- e. Investors are hereby at risk that they may lose some or all of the money they invest in the Fund. Furthermore, Investor's investments in the Fund shall not constitute guaranteed liabilities of the Fund Manager or any affiliate or subsidiary, but shall be subject to the below mentioned investment risks. The Fund Manager shall not be liable for any claim(s) whatsoever, for any lost opportunity or any actual loss that may be incurred by the Investor, except in case of the willful default or gross negligence of the Fund Manager, subject always to the risks set out in this terms and conditions.
- f. The main risks of investment in the Fund include:
 - 1. Political Risk

The uncertainties resulting from global, regional and local political changes may adversely affect the equity markets and thus may have a negative impact on the Fund's performance, its NAV, and the Unit price.
 - 2. Natural Disasters Risk

Financial markets and investment sectors are affected by natural disasters that may result in price decreases, which may negatively affect the performance of the Fund and thus may have a negative impact on the Fund's NAV and the Unit price.

3. Unit Price Fluctuations Risk

Stock prices are usually subject to short and mid-term fluctuations, which could result in volatility of the Unit price. This may negatively affect the performance of the Fund and thus may have a negative impact on the Fund's NAV and the Unit price.

4. Conflicts of Interest Risk

If there is a conflict of interest with the Fund Manager then this may affect the objectivity and independence of the Fund Manager's decisions, which may negatively affect the Fund's performance and thus may have a negative impact on the Fund's NAV and the Unit price.

5. Relying on the of the Fund Manager's Staff Risk

The Fund Manager relies on its specialist team in order to manage the Fund, and therefore the Fund may be adversely affected by the loss of executives and employees associated. In such circumstances, it may be difficult to find replacement staff with the requisite level of experience and expertise and this may negatively affect the performance of the Fund and thus may have a negative impact on the Fund's NAV and the Unit price.

6. Risk relating to the Issuer

The risk arises from the exposure to changes in the underlying financial conditions of the issuer due to changes in management, demand or products and services. This risk may also include situations where the issuer undergoes legal actions because of irregularities it commits, which may lead to the devaluation of its shares, and thus may negatively affect the performance of the Fund and thus may have a negative impact on the Fund's NAV and the Unit price.

7. Exposure to Changes in Legislations

When investing in financial markets, there are risks related to changes in legislation enacted by different authorities related to financial markets, which could result in sharp fluctuation in prices. This may negatively affect the performance of the Fund and thus may have a negative impact on the Fund's NAV and the Unit price.

8. Investment Strategy Risk

The Fund Manager does not make any representations, or offer any guarantee, that the Fund's investment strategies will achieve its purposes. As such, failing to achieve such purposes may negatively affect the Fund's NAV and thus may have a negative impact on the Fund's NAV and the Unit price.

9. Risks of investing in other investment funds

There are risks that may affect other investment funds in which the fund may invest and which may be subject to short- and medium-term fluctuations, and fluctuations in the unit price. Therefore, this may adversely affect the performance of the Fund and thus may have a negative impact on the Fund's NAV and the unit price.

10. Risk of Investing in Rights Issues

Investments in rights issues may cause losses as a result of failure of the investment portfolio manager to use its right to buy or trade the rights that it is eligible to, which could lead to a downgrading of the value of the Units and thus may have a negative impact on the Fund's NAV. In addition, investments in rights issues may cause substantial losses to the Fund, where the allowable fluctuation in rights trading prices exceed the ratio governing the prices of equities listed on the GCC Stock Exchanges (if any), and thus may have a negative impact on the Fund's NAV and the Unit price.

11. Risk of Potential Fluctuation in Equity Market

Equity markets, in general, are driven by investors' perception of overall economic and business conditions which at times could be subject to extreme uncertainty causing the markets to rise and fall dramatically. This could result in a noticeable decrease in the Fund NAV, in addition to the risk of suspending trading in a company in which the Fund invests. As such, this could affect the Fund's performance and thus may have a negative impact on the Fund's NAV and the Unit price.

12. Investment risks in initial public offerings, additional offerings, as well as other initial public offerings

When making investment decisions, the manager of the Fund largely relies on information contained in prospectuses of initial public offering, additional offerings, as well as other initial public offerings. However, these documents may contain inaccurate information or may omit material information that would affect the investment decision in the Fund run by its manager. This would also affect the performance of the Fund, and in turn, have a negative impact on the net asset value in the fund as well as the unit price. The Fund may subscribe in additional offerings, as well as other initial public offerings at a rate higher than the market rate. This would have a negative impact on the net asset value in the fund as well as the unit price.

13. Future Financial Projections Risk

In the context of initial public offerings, additional offerings, rights issue as well as other initial public offerings, the Fund Manager relies on the projections of financial results in respect of the relevant issuer in order to determine the share price at which it should invest. However, such projections are subject to change, which could lead to deviation in the share price, which may reflect negatively on the performance of the Fund and thus may have a negative impact on the Fund's NAV and the Unit price.

14. Economic Risk

The capital markets are affected by both global economic factors as well as regional economic factors. As such, capital markets decline during economic recessions, which could lead to the decline of the Fund NAV. In particular, the GCC economy is heavily dependent on oil prices and revenues, and is therefore subject to fluctuations in oil prices. As such, this may have an effect on government spending and could therefore affect the local and regional economy, which could as a result negatively affect the Fund's performance and its NAV and the Unit price.

15. Systemic Risk

This risk relates to the probability of incurring losses due to the collapse of a financial system causing as a result a negative effect on the global or local economies. Therefore, such risk could negatively affect the Fund's performance and its NAV and the Unit price.

16. Interest Rate Risks

Fluctuations in the interest rates could potentially affect the currency rates and equity markets in general and therefore may negatively affect the performance of the Fund and its NAV and the Unit price.

17. Custody Risks

These risks relate to the loss being incurred on securities in custody by the Fund's custodian or the sub-custodian as a result of certain acts committed or omissions made by such custodian (such as: negligence, misuse of assets, fraud, poor administration or inadequate record-keeping), which could have a negative effect on the Fund's performance and its NAV and the Unit price.

18. Liquidity Risk

Liquidity refers to how quickly and easy it is to sell an asset and transfer it to cash. Some shares are less liquid than other instruments which means they cannot be sold as quickly or easily. In addition, some of the shares and structured products may difficult to liquidate because of legal restrictions or restrictions relating to the type of investment or relating to the fact that there are no buyers interested in this type of asset. As such, this could have a negative effect on the Fund's performance and consequently the Fund's NAV and Unit price.

19. Concentration Risk

This risk relates to the likelihood of an incident or certain incident that could affect the entire sector, and companies listed on the financial markets or the whole industry in which the Fund invests. The Fund is likely to be significantly exposed to a particular sector in some cases, which may negatively affect its overall performance and its NAV and the Unit price.

20. Credit Risk

If the Fund invests its cash assets in Murabaha transactions, there is a possibility that a borrower or counterparty to such transactions may be unable to repay or settle its obligations in a timely manner or may even fail to pay entirely, which could result in a significant decrease in the value of the Fund's NAV. As such, this could have a negative effect on the Fund's performance and its NAV and the Unit price.

21. Dealing with Third Parties Risk

The Fund may enter into transactions with third parties who may be unable to fulfill their contractual obligations under such transactions, which as a result could have a negative effect on the Fund's overall performance and its NAV and the Unit price.

22. Currency Risks

The Fund may trade in securities that are not denominated in the principal currency of the Fund and as such will be subject to currency risks. Fluctuations in exchange rates may lead to increases or decreases in the Unit price which may have a negative effect on the Fund's NAV and Unit price.

23. Operational Risk

Operational risk is defined as risks resulting from inadequate or failed processes related to people, systems and external events including legal risks. It arises from potential disruptions of processes associated with the delivery of products or services to customers. As such, if any such event occurred, this may result in a negative impact on the Fund's performance and its NAV and Unit price.

24. Zakat and Tax Risks:

Investing in the Fund may result in tax obligations including zakat. These taxes may apply to the Fund and its investments or to the Unitholder. The Authority of Zakat, Tax and Customs of the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia or any other authority may impose taxes on investment funds leading to reduction of the Fund's NAV and Unit price.

25. IT Related Risk:
